Passage 1.

Last summer I took a trip to an island. I had a lot of fun. I sat and watched the waves and listened to the ocean. I learned to identify birds. I discovered pretty things and enjoyed the taste of new foods. It was a very nice time.

One evening I took a pleasant walk by the ocean. When the waves came in, many starfish fell on the beach. Some starfish went back into the water, and they were safe. But other starfish were still on the sand. They would die if they did not get into the water. There were many starfish on the beach that night. It made me sad, but I knew I could not fix the problem. I stepped very carefully so I did not damage them.

Then I saw a little girl. She was also sad about the starfish. She wanted to prevent all of them from dying. She asked me if I could perhaps help her.

"To be frank, I don't think we can do anything," I said.

The little girl started to cry. She sat back against a rock and thought for a while. Finally, the emotion was gone. She stopped crying and stood up. Then she picked up a starfish and threw it into the water.

"What are you doing?" I asked her. But she did not answer me. She just threw as many starfish as she could. "You can not save all of them!" I said.

She stopped to look at me. "No, I can not save them all," she replied. Then she picked up a very big starfish and said, "But I can save this one." And then she smiled and threw the starfish as far as she could into the ocean.

Passage 2

Vanuatu is a nation of small islands in the South Pacific. It is one of the smallest countries in the world. But for those who are interested in adventure and sport, there is a lot to do. Some of the best swimming, snorkeling (潜游), and sea kayaking (海上划艇) can be found here. Vanuatu's islands also offer visitors two of the most exciting and dangerous activities in the world: volcano surfing and land diving.

On Tanna Island, Mount Yasur rises 300 meters (1,000 feet) into the sky. Yasur is one of a few active volcanoes in the country. It erupts (喷发) almost every day, sometimes several times a day. For centuries, both island locals and visitors have climbed this mountain to visit the top. Recently, people have also started climbing Yasur to surf the volcano. In some ways, volcano surfing is like surfing in the sea, but in other ways, it's very different. A volcano surfer's goal is to escape the erupting volcano without being hit by flying rocks! It's fast, fun and dangerous- the perfect extreme sport.

Most people are familiar with bungee jumping. But did you know bungee jumping started on Pentecost Island in Vanuatu, and is almost 15 centuries old? The original activity, called land diving, is part of a religious ceremony. A man ties three vines around his ankles. He then jumps headfirst from a high tower. The goal is to touch the earth with the top of his head- without breaking the vine or hitting the ground hard. Every spring, island natives (men only) still perform this amazing test of bravery.

() 36. What is the writer's purpose?

() 38. What can we learn about Mount Yasur?

- A. It is 1000 meters high.
- B. It has been 15 centuries since the beginning of volcano surfing.
- C. It is an active volcano.
- D. It erupts several times a day.

() 39. In Paragraph 3 "the earth" refers to

Passage 3.

The first emperor of China, Qin Shihuang, accomplished a huge amount during his rule. Between 221 and 210 B.C, he started the construction of the Great Wall. He built a large network of roads. He introduced a new writing system, currency, and set of measurements. The emperor also ordered the construction of a huge army of life-sized terracotta soldiers (兵马俑). These, he hoped, would protect his tomb after his death.

The soldiers in Xi'an's terracotta museum are today light brown, but they weren't always. They began as an army of red, blue, yellow, green, white, and purple. Sadly, most of the colors did not last to the present day. After being exposed to air during excavation (挖掘), the coating under the paint began to fall off. The paint disappeared in less time than it takes to boil an egg, taking with it important pieces of history.

Now new techniques are starting to reveal the army's true colors. Archaeologists(考古学家)have recently discovered an area with more than a hundred soldiers. Many of these still have their painted features, including black hair, pink faces, and black or brown eyes. Chinese and German researchers have developed a special liquid to help preserve the soldiers' colors. After they find a soldier or other artifacts (手工艺品) ,archaeologists spray it with the liquid. They then cover it in plastic.

Archaeologists are also finding colors in the dirt around the soldiers. It's important not to disturb the dirt, so the colors won't be lost. "We are treating the earth as an artifact," says archaeologist Rong Bo, the museum's leading chemist. The next challenge,says Rong, is to find a way to apply the colors to the army again. Once that happens,artists can bring Emperor Qin's army back to life in full, vivid color.

()45. According to Rong Bo,_____.
